Coleman Lions Raise $1050.16 For Curling Club

A tremendously receptive crowd of 419 persons turned out in near zero weather to the Lions bingo on Wednesday, February 24th at the Elks hall, Coleman, to participate in the club's final bingo for the raising of funds for the purchase of curling rocks for the Coleman Curling Club.

Due to the good attendance a further 197.86 was realized to help swell the fund to $1050.16, more than sufficient for the purchase of 32 rocks. Due to the largeness of the crowd most prizes were split by many winners.

Winners of the regular bingos for the $10 prizes were:

Split among Mrs. J. Tarcon, Mrs. Parkinson, Mrs. L. Krzy, Mr. H. Gate and Mr. F. Cozd.

Split among Mrs. R. Rinaldi, Mrs. Ruzak and Mr. S. Stukalo.

Split between Mrs. J. Sudworth and Mrs. S. Churla.

Mrs. Gilmour.

Split between Mrs. J. Tarcon and Mrs. M. Pavull.

Split among Mrs. E. Ash, Mrs. Fisher and Mrs. J. Squarek.

Split between Mrs. D. Collings and Mrs. J. Graf.

Split between Mr. S. Costanzo and Mrs. Wakulak.

Split between Mrs. Sygatek and Mr. I. Raymond.

Split between Mrs. P. Snowdon and Mrs. J. Jones.

Winners of the special $25 bingos for every 50 in attendance over 200 were:

Split among Mrs. Anderson, Mr. J. Cerney and Miss S. Lord.

Mr. Jack Jenkins.

Mr. Vic Krzy.

Split among Mrs. O. Marconi, Mr. F. Hamilton and Mrs. M. Pantin.

Door prizes were won by:

Mrs. B. Pontana, Miss R. Rinaldi, Mr. J. Hucik and Mrs. V. Hansen.

The jackpot for $205 was won in 58 numbers and split between Mrs. T. Sudworth and Mrs. W. Tompkins.

The Coleman Lions announce the next bingo will be on Wednesday, March 9th at the Elks hall, Coleman, at 8 p.m.

Everyone is asked to make a special attempt to be there as all proceeds will be used for the Spencer Dunford Heart Fund, which now stands at $795.57. The Dunford boy will be leaving for a heart operation at Rochester, in July of this year, and expenses are heavy.

Through the generosity of the Greenacres Kiwanis Club of Lethbridge, the deficit between the actual cost and what the Coleman Lions can raise will be paid by that club. However, the more the Coleman Lions Club can raise the more funds that will be available for some other worthy cause.

At the next bingo the jackpot will be $100 to be won in a black-out of 54 numbers. There will also be ten $10 cash and four door prizes.—The usual $25 bingo will be played for every 50 in attendance over 200.

Rodeo Meeting Poorly Attended

Coleman Board of Trade held a Rodeo meeting last week to discuss possible plans for the 1960 Rodeo.

A disappointingly small crowd turned out for the meeting, as it was reported that out of 125 invitations sent out, only 18 persons showed up.

Having had such a small turnout the Board of Trade have announced that another Rodeo meeting will be held on March 1st for the purpose of discussing the Rodeo. The Board also wish to point out that the Board of Trade only sponsor the Rodeo and spearhead the affair but they require strength and support of all citizens of Coleman who have the interest of the community at heart.

It seems that the general impression of many citizens is that the Board of Trade is made up of only businessmen, but the Board have indicated that this is not so, and that they invite both men and women from all walks of life to take part in the Board's activities.

In connection with the Rodeo the Board of Trade only sponsor the affair and appoint committees to take charge of the various sections of the Rodeo.

New Camp Shelter For Gold Creek

Department of Highways crews have set up a shell building on the east side of Gold Creek at Frank this week and have commenced the building of a much-needed camp shelter at this west end of the scenic Frank Slide.

During the past few years the government of the Province of Alberta have done much work in this area in an attempt to promote tourist traffic through this scenic Crows Nest Pass.

Colorful highway and historic signs have been set up and camp shelters and other scenic mountains in this area as well as providing excellent cold mountain stream water, shady trees and nearby woods, sheltered spots in this district.

The new addition of a camp shelter at Frank will be extensively used as during the tourist season campers can be seen by the score using the camp table and benches at Gold Creek each day.

This location affords tourists and visitors a grand view of the Frank Slide and other scenic mountains in this area as well as providing excellent cold mountain stream water, shady trees and nearby woods, sheltered spots in this district.

Meanwhile other crews of highway workers are removing numerous rocky bluffs along the number three highway through this area and removal of the bluffs has improved vision around sharp curves 100 per cent. Motorists in this area who are familiar with the roads are very appreciative of this fine work that is being sponsored by the government to give winter employment to local unemployed men and equipment. The refuse rock that is being blasted in the removal of the rocky bluffs is being hauled away by trucks and is being used as a fill to widen out corners and narrow spots along the highway. Some is being used to fill in ditches where a number of viewpoints are being built.

Several other camp shelters are to be built in this area this season.

Regular Meeting Home & School Assn.

The Coleman Home and School Association held its regular monthly meeting in the Coleman high school auditorium on Monday, February 15th when approximately 100 parents and interested persons attended.

Highlight of the meeting was a "spelling bee" held between the pupils of the grade six Central school and the grade six Cameron school. The close competition was won by Central school class.

The next bee was held between the students of grade nine and their parents, with the parents being the victors of the match.

The attendance prize was won by the grade six room and the teacher of this room, Mrs. J. Montalbetti will be awarded a cheque to purchase an object for her classroom.

The meeting concluded after a lunch of cookies and coffee served by the committee.

Lethbridge To Host Local Witnesses

Mr. W. L. Krish, presiding minister of the local congregation of Jehovah's Witnesses, announced today, February 25, that the Lethbridge congregation of Jehovah's Witnesses will be host to more than 300 delegates at a semi-annual circuit assembly to be held in the Gilbert Patterson high school auditorium on March 18-2.

Mr. Krish will head the local delegation of about 15 persons.

In discussing the announcement W. L. Krish said "These semi-annual conventions are held for the purpose of helping the Witnesses gain greater knowledge and to demonstrate how Bible principles can be applied in daily life."

G. H. Saltmarsh, district supervisor for Jehovah's Witnesses from Toronto, will be principal speaker and will deliver the public address at 3 p.m., Sunday, March 29th—"Finding Peace in This Troubled World".

During the first quarter of 1960 foreign capital coming into Canada totalled $166,000,000.

Coal mines in this Crows Nest Pass area were given an invigorating shot of good news shortly after 6:00 p.m. Saturday night when word was received that mines here had been successful in negotiating for coal orders with Japanese steel firms.

In an interview with Dave Young, vice-president of Coleman Collieries, Mr. Young stated that Coleman had received an order for 100,000 long tons. This information was telephoned to Mr. Young by D. H. Sutherland, an exporter of Vancouver, who had just arrived home by plane from Japan.

Mr. Young stated that "the price was not all that could be desired, but we must realize we are dealing in a world market and we must be prepared to meet world prices."

He added that the Japanese market is highly competitive and the local mines must compete against such countries as Australia, Russia, South Vietnam and Eastern United States for the sale of coking coal. He said that the mines require the utmost co-operation of all concerned in order to make our coal competitive. The coal order will create steady work for the Vicary Creek mine, and, according to Mr. Young, from 50 to 70 men will be hired for work.

Additional men will be drawn from the present crew of the McGillivray mine as the market for coal from McGillivray is only seasonal and work slacks off in summer.

The 100,000 ton order means about 25,000 man-shifts and taking an average of $20 per man shift will boost the economy of Coleman by one half million dollars during the year.

The coal order begins on the coal year, which runs from April 1st, 1960, to April 1st, 1961.

Mr. F. J. Harquail, president of Coleman Collieries, and Mr. D. B. Young, president, returned to Coleman last week, after having spent the past three weeks in Japan negotiating for coking coal orders with various Japanese steel firms.

Mr. Young reports the coal operators were well received and that many meetings were held. Enroute to Japan Mr. Young visited the bulk loading docks at Port Moody which will be opened for use on March 15.

When in operation the docks will be used for loading coal for the Orient which will speed up delivery. The docks will be used for loading ships with any bulk materials including lime, iron ore, sulphur, and other products for export.

Credit Union Holds Annual Meeting on February 20th

The Coleman Savings and Credit Union held its annual meeting on Saturday evening, February 20th, when some 42 members attended banquet and supper held for the occasion.

During the affair the reports of the various committees were presented and accepted. The reports indicated that during 1959 the Coleman Credit Union had loaned out approximately $50,000, which comprised the 53 loans made by members. Share accounts during the year 1959 increased by some $16,000, making a grand total in the share account of $445,500.

A total of some $24,000 is out on loans at the present time.

Having enjoyed a very successful year the committee agreed to pay three and a half per cent on dividends and a 15 per cent patronage dividend.

A by-law was passed during the evening to increase the directors from a total of five to eight which would comprise seven directors plus one alternate.

During the evening the matter of insurance coverage was discussed, and it was disclosed that the Credit Union had included a temporary disability in their insurance which would cover members' loan payments in the event of sickness or accident.

An election of officers was then held and the new slate will comprise:

President, Isadore Raymond. Vice-president, Nora Goulding. Secretary-treasurer, Trevor Collister. Directors: Isadore Raymond, R. Symonak, Harold Jones, E. Amel, W. Liddell, G. Lant, Nora Goulding, and T. A. Collister.

The Credit Committee will comprise Ernie Lant, John Owen, A. Sikora, and the Supervisory committee will comprise Mrs. Polly Snowden, E. Krywolt, J. Ondrus and R. Woods.

String Orchestra and the Crows Nest Pass Symphony Orchestra—conducted by Roy Upton, the St. Paul's United Church Choir of Coleman conducted by Mrs. Gordon Dunford and by the Amundson Family String Orchestra of Michel.

Proceeds from the affair will be turned over to the String Orchestra for the purchase of music and other expenses. Date of the concert will be announced when date has been confirmed.

At June 1, 1961, Canada's population figure was 17,442,000.

'Criminal Negligence' Charges Laid

Retired mine worker, Sam Patterson, 68, was charged in magistrate's court Monday morning with unlawfully causing the death of Mrs. Elizabeth Grena, 53, by criminal negligence.

No plea was entered and the accused was remanded until March 7 when a preliminary hearing is expected.

Patterson was originally charged with hit and run following the highway death of Mrs. Grena January 29. This charge was not read in court that morning.

Following the accident an extensive search of the Crows Nest Pass area was made to find the driver of the car that struck Mrs. Grena on Highway No. 3. Patterson was charged with hit and run two days after the accident.

Ball set when Patterson first appeared was ordered continued this morning. It had been set at $5,000 with two cash sureties of $1,000 each entered by Max Grischuk of Hillcrest and Lucien Boudier of Cowley.

There is no known cure for the illness 'alcoholism', but its progress can be arrested. As public awareness, knowledge and understanding of alcoholism increases, the person with a drinking problem will be encouraged to acknowledge his problem and seek help sooner.

Foreign Aid?

If our young premier has his way, Manitoba is going to go into the foreign field and donate some technical schools to Africa and Asia.

No one doubts the motivation of the premier, but quite a few rather stunned citizens doubt the wisdom of the move as a provincial enterprise. Surely enough is being done or will be done by Canada through the federal government without all the provinces scrambling to out-do each other in helping the poor of other lands.

Manitoba is one of the nation's most beautiful provinces, but surely not the wealthiest either in dollars or in educational facilities. In fact, Winnipeg, its capital city, is not too well supplied with educational facilities. And in comparison with Edmonton, Calgary, Vancouver and some other centres, it is impoverished for community facilities of an educational and cultural kind.

Vancouver's Queen Elizabeth Theatre, — which seats over 2800 is envied by many Winnipeg people. And Vancouver is about to build an additional small theatre, to seat 700.

Montreal's Place des Arts project will provide a hall to be used for many purposes, particularly concerts, and will seat over 3,000 persons. The same project will have a theatre capable of seating 1250, and a Chamber of Music hall for 500. Surely Mr. Roblin might have considered something of this nature for Manitoba before adventuring into the field of foreign aid!

It is true that foreign aid sounds like a noble cause. It is also true that we may do more for other nations by remaining solvent and strong here at home than by contributions which will be, in the long run, mere drops in a huge bucket. The people who provide the money will want to balance the two truths carefully.

Too often, these days, governments do not give the people very much chance to make these decisions. Once elected, the government authorities seem to feel they should have a free hand with the taxpayers' money.

If Mr. Roblin meant to become an international benefactor, he should have told the people about it during his election campaign. Surely it isn't something which has just recently occurred to him?

OF MANY THINGS

(By Ambrose Hills)

What Is Socialism?

There are about as many definitions of socialism as there are followers of the CCF party in Canada, and perhaps that is the reason for the failure of that group and the decision to form a new party.

Socialism, traditionally, means the ownership of the means of production, distribution and exchange by the State. Capitalism means the possession of capital by private individuals or companies.

Capitalists readily accept the traditional definition of the term; but socialists continually modify or argue about the definition of socialism. They will tell you that it does not mean this or it does not mean that, but they avoid telling what it actually does mean, except in vague generalities.

There is good reason for their vagueness. They are caught on the horns of a dilemma. If they admit that socialism is the ownership of the means of production by the State, then they must socialize the farms — and few farmers would stand still for it. If they claim that capitalism brings out the worst in people, why has it not made farmers into greedy, profiteering people? This logic dismays the socialist so he tries to avoid talking government ownership, and merely points to the inequities in the world. He says socialism will cure them but doesn't say how.

This nimbleness in avoiding a definite statement of what socialism is and what it would do may be useful in argument, but does not attract a large following. Canadians refuse to join a party until they know what it would do if elected. In other words, they want to know what, precisely, is socialism?

I have been reading back through the speeches of Mr. Woodsworth and of the Fabian socialists when they drew up their Co-operative Commonwealth of Tomorrow constitution.

These men knew what they meant, and made no bones about it. Beatrice and Sydney Webb did not hesitate to urge state ownership. In Canada, Mr. Woodsworth and Mr. Winch used no weasel words about their intentions. If elected, they said, everyone would have to fall in line to make socialism work. Compulsion did not scare them.

Today's socialist is afraid to talk socialism!

Alberta Manufacture Future Bright

Today the opportunity for the establishment of secondary industries to serve local markets in Alberta is excellent. Forecasts indicate the economic climate of Alberta up to 1975 and beyond will be favorable to industrial growth. By 1975 Alberta will have a population of two million people, almost double what it has today.

The four western provinces, British Columbia, Alberta, Saskatchewan and Manitoba will have a population of some six million. Alberta will play an increasingly important role as the centre of manufacturing in this area. The resources of Alberta will allow the establishment of industries that can produce at low cost to supply markets on the prairies, the rest of Canada and throughout the world.

The opportunity for the establishment of secondary industries to serve local markets is excellent. Manufacturing will continue to develop with the establishment of an increasing number of industries in these fields — food and beverages, products of petroleum and coal, wood products, iron and steel products, non-metallic mineral products, chemicals and allied products, transportation equipment, printing, publishing and allied trades, pulp and paper products, clothing, textiles, non-ferrous metal products, electrical apparatus and supplies, and plastics.

Nearly all of these industries have and will continue to establish themselves to serve local markets.

In the foods and beverages industry there is a profitable outlet for margarine manufactured from local edible oils and prepared mustard. The world's most important mustard producing region is in the Leithbridge area in the southern part of the province. At present distilled liquors are produced by only one firm yet Alberta is a major grain and sugar producing region.

There is much room for expansion in the foods industry, particularly frozen vegetables, canned baby food, soups and sandwich pastes. At present the canned foods industry exports 50 per cent of its production, but there is no reason why this could not be increased. The canned food industry in Alberta represents a $450,000 market, almost as much as the combined food market of British Columbia, Saskatchewan and Manitoba.

Growing Market For Breakfast Foods

There is a great scope for the manufacturing of breakfast foods. Of the $2,000,000 market that exists in Alberta for breakfast foods, only $150,000 goes to two Alberta producers. Canned milk, cake and dough mix, canned meat, potatoes, starch and flour industries could all be profitably established in the province and at the very least are worthy of investigation.

Alberta is self-sufficient and a large exporter of petroleum and coal products. There is little doubt that more refineries, gasoline absorption plants and gas desulfurization plants will be established.

A steel industry, using indigenous iron, may be started in the province, opening the door for coke production from available coal resources.

Alberta's coal also presents excellent possibilities for manufacturing activated carbon, artificial graphite and nuclear explosives.

There is a growing market for furniture and plywood manufacturing using the province's own timber and wood products. This market at the present time is worth some $20,000,000 to the province outside the province.

Co-operative Opportunities
For daily food opportunities exist for investors: to establish agreements with local manufacturers to produce coal and metal mine machinery, heavy machinery for road building and a complete quarrying and steel drilling equipment.

Local farmers already find a ready market for hickories, beeches, alders and other steel alloy parts for excavating and mining machinery. There is a multi-million dollar market for cold profitable to serve the local manufacture of an electric shaver, hairiers, hair clippers, sheet metal products, chainsaws, bottle caps, air conditioning apparatus, radiators, cooking stoves, water heaters, furnaces.

In the field of non-metallic products, plastics — which has the largest growth rate of any industry in the province — there is much scope for the manufacture of such items as: automobile, electric light bulbs, Florida products, window glass, wool and many other products. The Alberta and Western Coal Commission is large enough to support production.

Newfoundland, tenth and latest of Canada's provinces, represents a market for minerals estimated at $3,500,000,000 a year.

"Are You Walking Yourself To Death?"

People On Pedestrians need to be safe — a warning aimed at saving their lives, claims an article in the current issue of the Imperial Oil Review.

Indeed, "Are You Walking Yourself To Death?" the article quotes the Dominion Bureau of Statistics as indicating that the cost of excessive pedestrian deaths in Canada is a pedestrian.

According to one traffic expert, "pedestrian deaths are responsible for one-third of the total cost of excessive pedestrian deaths. Three pedestrians killed have been killed from a traffic accident or coming out on unsafe roads."

The article adds: "Newly killed pedestrians are 15 who are killed by motor cars and trucks who have never been seen to drive."

A Canadian survey of 190 pedestrians found that 65 per cent of them had been injured.

The article says that it is up to each of us to be safe and injured.

1. "If you are a pedestrian, it is up to you to be safe."

2. "If you are a driver, it is up to you to be safe."

3. "If you are a driver, it is up to you to be safe."

4. "If you are a driver, it is up to you to be safe."

5. "If you are a driver, it is up to you to be safe."

6. "If you are a driver, it is up to you to be safe."

area.

"The prevailing myth about the 'blameless' pedestrian has misled our efforts to promote pedestrian safety," the Review writer states. "We have been concentrating on the behavior of the motorists when in fact our main education efforts should be expended on the non-motorists."

"To many pedestrians are ignorant or careless of traffic regulations, too many are unaware of the motorists' problems and limitations in handling vehicles."

Statistics of the pedestrian hazard on Canadian roadways are shocking, according to the article. In Toronto alone 81 of the 121 people killed in traffic accidents last year were pedestrians.

Based on DBS figures of 1957—estimated pedestrian deaths last year totalled 1,000 with 12,000 pedestrians injured, says the article.

Both motorist and pedestrian must share alike the job of promoting pedestrian safety," the article concludes. "Each must work to protect the other."

The Policeman's Lot

If he's neat, he's conceited; if he's careless he's a bum; if he's brief he's a grouchy; if he's pleasant he's a flirt; if he hurries he over-looks things; if he takes his time he's lazy; if you get pinched he had it in for you; if he's energetic he's trying to make a record; if he's deliberate he's too slow to catch a cold.

If you strike him he's a coward; if he strikes you back he's a bully; if he outwits you he's a sneak; if you see him first he's a bonehead; if he makes a good catch he's lucky; if he misses he's simple; if he gets a promotion he's got pull; if he doesn't... ah, what's the use? — that is a policeman.

—Pincher Creek Echo.

Letter To The Editor

Edmonton, Alta., Feb. 5, 1960.

Dear Mr. Holstead:
I am sure that your readers and the more than 100,000 people who participated, will be pleased to learn that the Christmas Seal Sale has again been brought to a successful conclusion. It is comforting to know that we are adequately financed for another year, but it is also a source of satisfaction to feel that our work enjoys the confidence of so many Alberta people. To them, we express our sincere thanks. We are also deeply appreciative of the help received from many individuals and organizations during the campaign.

On behalf of the Alberta Tuberculosis Association, I wish to express our gratitude to The Coleman Journal for the valuable aid in bringing the campaign to the attention of the public.

We feel that our intensified program, in co-operation with the provincial Department of Health, is achieving results in our joint efforts to control the spread of tuberculosis. There is, however, the very real danger that progress in this respect may lead to an unwarranted feeling of complacency. There are far too many new cases of tuberculosis being discovered in areas where the disease is a major health problem, and while we are intensifying our search in these districts, the over-all protective program must be maintained until all sources of infection have been eliminated.

Yours sincerely,
Ralph E. Williams,
President,
Alberta Tuberculosis Association.

Three out of five Canadians now have natural gas service available.

Normally, you wouldn't expect to find a manager anywhere but behind a desk. Yet Calgary Power's District Managers, and all of their highly-trained staffs, must be ready for service every hour of the day and night, every moment of the year. We have 75,000 square miles of operating area, divided into districts for faster, better electrical service. The inquisitive

Brown family, now having met a District Manager and one of his capable linemen, recognize them as some of the most civic-minded members of their own community. The Calgary Power District Manager in your area is probably just as valuable a neighbor, and he welcomes all of your questions about any phase of electrical service.

This Is Red Cross Month

This is Red Cross Month and every year this newspaper is pleased to draw attention to this commemoration. It is our way of paying tribute to the Canadian Red Cross Society, a great national organization. It is also an opportunity to salute the many people in this community who serve as willing volunteers and carry on traditional Red Cross work.

These men, women and children are devoted to their various tasks and willingly assume additional duties whenever there is a call for their services. They give their time, their talent, their blood and their money to help others. They ask nothing in return because they have the satisfaction that they are people helping people. These Red Cross volunteers have a serious concern for the welfare of others—one of the most admirable of human attributes.

Every day we see these citizens carrying on their duties. In our schools the Junior Red Cross is a most important project and through it our children are developing an interest in the other youth, their community, and generally learning to be good citizens of the future.

Our women of this community are the backbone of the Red Cross Women's Work Committee. They devote hundreds of hours of their time to knit and sew to provide many essential articles for people in need here at home and abroad.

And there are the blood donors, the men and women who share their good health to help victims of disease and accidents and willingly donate their blood regularly to the Red Cross.

Another group is made up of the people who knock on our doors and request financial support for the annual appeal.

There are also men and women who serve as officers of our local Red Cross branch. They give their time and talent to guide the many programs, services and interests of the Red Cross.

At some time this month, a volunteer Red Cross canvasser will knock on your door. They are doing a very essential work because money is needed to back up the work of the Red Cross volunteer. That money must come from every one of us. Dollars and volunteers are needed to carry on the essential services and programs of the Red Cross. This year the need is greater and your generosity will keep the Red Cross on the job!

Human Cancers Studied By Ontario Scientists

How can you experiment with human cancers without experimenting with human beings?

This is the problem being attacked by two young University of Western Ontario scientists, Dr. D. P. Swartz and Dr. R. C. Buck, with human cancer tissue provided by Dr. Ivan Smith, director of the London Cancer Clinic.

Both men are receiving grants for their work from the National Cancer Institute of Canada. Each is approaching the subject from an entirely different way from the other.

A great deal of experimental work is and has been going on, in laboratories all over the world,—with transplantable and induced animal tumors. The techniques are routine.

A tumor that may have been growing for years and endured many transplants is planted into the body of a rat or mouse. Or the animal may be fed a potent chemical that will cause a cancer to grow in the liver or elsewhere. Or a cancer-causing chemical such as tobacco tar may be painted on the shaved back of the animal.

More recently, tumors have been transferred by the injection of fluids containing virus like substances.

These methods are, in fact, the very backbone of cancer research, and a great deal of useful information has been gained from their use. However, many scientists feel that since the goal of research is to cure cancer in humans—more attention should be given to human tumors.

The difficulties are obvious. You just can't induce cancers in human beings. So, Dr. Swartz is working on a method of transplanting tumors taken from the genital tract of human patients into the cheek pouches of hamsters. In this way we can manipulate the conditions of growth and study the endocrine and metabolic aspects of it," he points out.

Why hamsters? — In the first place the hamster's natural resistance to "foreign" tissue is less than that of rats or mice. Also the hamster pouch is easy to get at both for transplanting and for the day-by-day observation of the tumor's progress.

There are difficulties, too.

Before the hamster body will accept human tissue at all it must first be treated with cortisone or radiation. This unfortunately breaks down resistance to the point where the animals pick up the slightest infection. Also, when kept in cages, hamsters have a tendency to eat each other. "However, we are making progress," Dr. Swartz explains.

Dr. Buck is approaching the study of human cancer tissue in a different way. As a cytologist professor he is interested in the physical changes in cells when they become cancerous. So he looks at tissue provided by Dr. Smith through an electron microscope which was purchased with funds supplied by the National Cancer Institute of Canada. This machine magnifies cell images to the size of footballs and reveals many parts impossible to see with the conventional light microscope.

The work of the London scientists is part of a Canada-wide cancer research program involving more than a hundred projects and costing in excess of one million dollars. It is planned and supervised by the National Cancer Institute of Canada and largely financed by the Canadian Cancer Society.

Poison Control Service In Province

Hon. Dr. J. Donovan Ross, Alberta Minister of Public Health, today announced the establishment of the Poison Control Service in the province.

The program, considered to be one of the most comprehensive in the world, features Poison Treatment Centres at all hospitals in Alberta and Central Poison Information Centres at Edmonton and Calgary.

The Poison Treatment Centres have been equipped with an index system listing 2400 common household drugs, chemicals and pesticides—their chemical properties and antidotes. The necessary instruments and antidotes to treat an emergency case of poisoning will be installed in each centre.

Poison Information Centres will be staffed 24 hours a day at Edmonton and Calgary, to supply information on lesser known substances, under the direction of senior members of the pediatric staff.

More than 5,000 poisonous substances are listed on the more complex filing systems contained at these centres. A direct line telephone system connects the two Poison Information Centres with all hospitals.

The Department of Public Health will maintain a comprehensive record of the type, location and final result of all poison cases in the province.

The Poison Control system has resulted from a two-year study of similar systems elsewhere and consultation with medical and pharmaceutical associations. The incidence of accidental poisoning especially by children, has increased since the Second World War as more toxic substances have become available in the home.

Savings, too, have a way of growing.

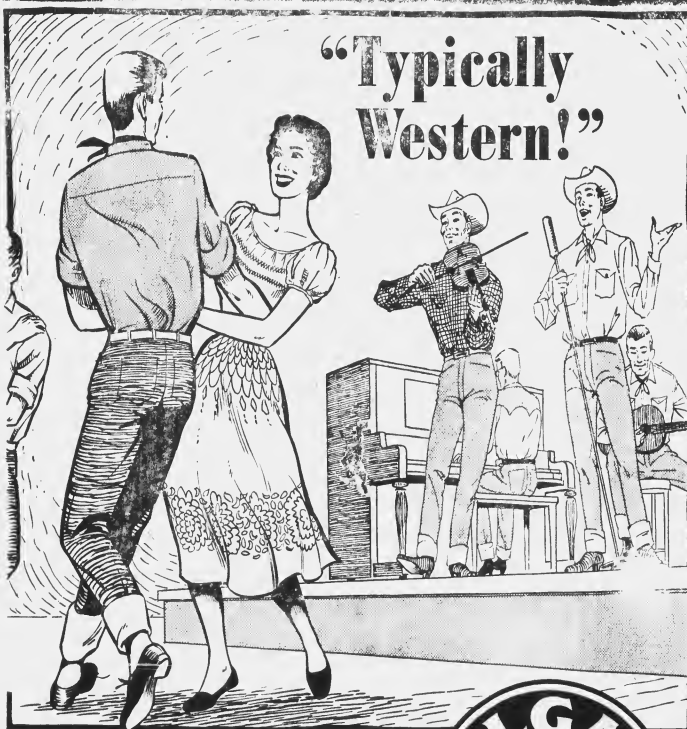

And just like her Junior Depositor's Account, your Savings Account will grow with regular deposits.
